Art Capital Group Hosts Exhibition

Abstract and Other: Contemporary Artists

New York, NY, May 29, 2001 – Art Capital Group, the preeminent service for museum exhibitions, art leasing and art purchase financing, announced today the upcoming exhibition Abstract and Other: Contemporary Artists at their gallery space at 980 Madison Avenue in New York City.

The exhibition, which will run from Wednesday, June 13 through August 2001, will feature work by contemporary artist Mollie McNealy, among others. Ms. McNealy's works included in the exhibit cover multiple conceptual ideas she has pursued in various series including her most well known, "Lifelines".

A graduate of Pratt Institute with a Master of Fine Arts in Painting, Ms. McNealy's diverse artistic training extends into the realms of visual design, photography and ceramics. She has stated of her work, "My paintings are variations of 'colorscapes'. They take on their own meaning of emotional states of life." A member of the Women's Art Group, the Artists League, and the West Side Arts Coalition, her paintings have been exhibited in New York at MALO for Madison Avenue: Where Fashion Meets Art, 2001, AIR Gallery's February 2000 show A Survey of Women Artists at the Millennium, as well as other venues around the city. Her work is also held in numerous private collections. Born in 1972, Ms. McNealy lives and works in New York.

Art Capital Group has previously exhibited works by American painter Sam Francis and photographer Ernst Haas. For information on Art Capital Group or any of the artists featured, please contact Art Capital Group, 980 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10021, (212) 585-3939 or email to info@artcapitalgroup.com. Gallery hours are Monday through Friday, 10:00a.m. - 6:00p.m. EST.
